Rothildes, Rotrudes, and Ruodhaid MERGED TOGETHER INTO ONE HUGE MESS	45

On Family Search, I'm trying to separate the seven different women that have been getting merged into ONE.

Rotrude de Haudre MERGED INTO ONE HUGE MESS

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

Rotrude de Hesbaye de Haudre de Charlemagne Who Is ALL Seven Women Merged into ONE

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

Rothilde de Haudre, daughter of Duke Haudre, as Abbess of Faremoutiers

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

Here at these links a person named Sanne van den Eijnde is deliberately merging at least seven different women together into ONE, on Family Search and Geneanet. My goal is separate them out into the individuals that they really are.

Sanne has been incorrectly merging the daughters and relatives of Charlemagne with Rothilde de Haudre the daughter of Duke Haudre; and, one or the other ceases to exist on Family Search as a result. It doesn't make sense and is internally inconsistent; but, the person who is perpetrating these errors seems to be doing so deliberately. Either this person can't read English, or this person stubbornly and pridefully refuses to correct his errors. This isn't the only error he is making.

We can find most of the contestants as these links:

Charlemagne

<https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/154774979/person/192042935876/facts>

Duke Haudre de Yonne

<https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/154774979/person/192086140599/facts>

Just work down the lists observing the daughters and wives named Ruodhaid, Rothilde, and Rotrude to see some the different women that Sanne is trying to merge into ONE on Family Search. It's insane. I'm getting them all documented with different Life Sketches, and I set them up on Ancestry.com where Sanne can't delete them and destroy them, thereby making it much easier for me to restore them on Family Search whenever they get deleted by Sanne.

Here Are the Seven that Have Been Confused with Each Other

It's easy to get them mixed up with each other because they basically have the same name and were born around the same time. I think it's important to separate them and research them separately rather than merging them all into ONE. They may not be the same person at all.

On Family Search, Sanne keeps deleting Rothilde de Haudre by merging her with Ruodhaid Carolingian, the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde. Then I have to restore her again to existence.

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

I prefer to keep Rothilde de Haudre completely separated from Ruodhaid Carolingian, Rotrude de Hesbaye, and Rothilde Carolingian in my genealogy records, so that these four different women don't accidentally get merged together into ONE.

By far, the most common mother assigned to Gainfroi is Rothilde de Haudre, the DAUGHTER of Duke Haudre de Yonne. This is the one most likely to be true.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/nleonard2?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

Here and on Geneanet, Sanne seems to be determined to merge Ruodhaid de Charlemagne with Rothilde de Haudre and treat both women as if they were one person. Apparently I have given him some ammunition for doing so, although that was not my intent.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

It really caught my attention when I observed Sanne trying to merge seven different women into ONE and treat them all as if they were the Abbess of Faremoutiers. Since some of these women may be my ancestors, I tried to separate them out into individuals only to have them deleted from existence whenever this person merged them into ONE HUGE PILE. The process of deleting our ancestors from existence on Family Search continues, so I set things up on Ancestry.com so that I can easily restore anything that gets deleted. I think that each of these seven women should be permitted her own existence on Family Search rather than being deleted from existence by being merged into ONE. If her name is Rothilde de Haudre, then she should in fact be the daughter of Duke Haudre and NOT simultaneously the daughter of Charlemagne.

Sanne wants Rothilde de Haudre daughter of Duke Haudre, Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madelgarde, Rothilde Carolingian by Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye of Unknown Parentage and WIFE of Ingerman de Hesbaye, the Fictional Rothilde the WIFE of Charlemagne, the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye, and the real historical Rothilde Carolingian ALL MERGED INTO ONE and functioning as the Abbess of Faremoutiers. I don't buy it. IT'S SLOPPY AND IT'S FALSE.

The daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne should NEVER be merged together into one because it's physically impossible for them to be the same person!!! Yet, that's precisely what Sanne is doing at most of his links including these.

OBSERVE:

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye de Haudre de Charlemagne, Who Is ALL Seven Women Merged into ONE!

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

Rotrude de Hesbaye ONLY WORKS while she is Rothilde de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne.

Rotrude de Hesbaye IMMEDIATELY BREAKS and also BREAKS Ancestry.com the very moment that Sanne makes her one of the daughters of Charlemagne or one of Charlemagne's relatives.

In other words, it is MERGING Ruodhaid Carolingian with Rothilde de Haudre that BREAKS Rotrude de Hesbaye because then you end up with UTTER NONSENSE like the daughter of Charlemagne marrying Charlemagne in order to produce Gainfrois de Sens.

Remember, Rotrude de Hesbaye ONLY WORKS and makes sense while she is Rothilde de Haudre. Rothilde de Haudre should never be merged with one of the daughters of Charlemagne as is being done here because it BREAKS the program, especially when the program is Ancestry.com.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye de Haudre de Charlemagne,
Who Is ALL Seven Women Merged into ONE!

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

When it comes to Rotrude de Hesbaye, her birthdate DEPENDS UPON HER IDENTITY!

DEPENDS ON HER IDENTITY!

Is she Rothilde de Haudre? If so, she was born around or BEFORE 750 AD. Or, is she Ruodhaid by Madelgarde? If so, she was born around or AFTER 775 AD.

She can't be both women at the same time, as is being done here!

Rotrude de Hesbaye ONLY WORKS RIGHT while she is Rotrude de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre.

Rotrude de Hesbaye BREAKS logic and BREAKS Ancestry.com while she is one of the daughters of Charlemagne!

<https://markme.us/Rotrude-de-Haudre-DAUGHTER-of-Duke-Haudre>

This fictional hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye is being treated as both the daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne. The daughters of Charlemagne, Ruodhaid and Rotrude, were both born after 775 AD, while Gainfroi de Sens was born by 770 AD. It's physically impossible for the daughters of Charlemagne to be the mother of Gainfroi de Sens because they weren't born yet when he was born!

One of the KEYS to differentiating these women and separating them into individuals is to study their birth dates and death dates extensively, which I have tried to do. Rather than merging these seven different women into one, I have tried to separate them into individuals by using their birth dates and death dates in order to do so. All of this gets destroyed whenever Sanne merges Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid Carolingian; but, my backups on Ancestry.com are starting to make it easier to repair the damage and separate them back into individuals once again.

On geneanet.com, Rothilde's birthdate ranges from 730 AD to 753 AD.

https://en.geneanet.org/fonds/individus/?go=1&nom=de+Haudre&nom_conjoint=de+Sens&page=1&prenom=Rothilde&prenom_conjoint=Mainier&prenom_conjoint_opérateur=or&prenom_opérateur=or&utm_campaign=search&utm_medium=partner&utm_source=partner_familysearch 750 A.D. is the most common birthdate for Rothilde de Haudre on myheritage.com.

https://www.myheritage.com/research?action=query&formId=master&formMode=1&qname=Name+fn.Rothilde+fnmo.2+fnmsvos.1+fnmsmi.1+ln.de%2F3Haudre+lnmo.4+lnmsdm.1+lnmsmf3.1+lnmsrs.1&qevents-birth0=Event+et.birth+ey.741%2F25+ep.Sens%2C%2F3Yonne%2C%2F3Bourgogne%2C%2F3Francia%2F3%28Frankenrijk%29+epmo.similar&qevents-death1=Event+et.death+ey.0834+epmo.similar&qevents=List&utm_source=partner_familysearch&utm_medium=partner&utm_campaign=research&fspid=GMQM-NMS

With one falsifiable exception, the most expansive range for Rothilde de Haudre's life is a birthdate of 750 and a death in 834.

The Falsehoods Currently Being Promoted

One person on Family Search wants to erroneously combine Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid de Charlemagne making both women erroneously the Abbess of Faremoutiers. This is physically impossible and illogical.

Rothilde de Haudre DAUGHTER of Duke Haudre CANNOT be the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde!

Contrary to what one person wants to force upon us, Rothilde de Haudre was NOT Ruodhaid de Charlemagne, the Abbess of Faremoutiers. There's no logical reason to conflate or merge the two, but what can one do when someone else is determined to? Of course, this person doesn't read the research material online. He just simply merges these seven different women together into one huge mess instead.

On Family Search, Sanne keeps deleting Rothilde de Haudre by merging her with Ruodhaid Carolingian, the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde. Then I have to restore her again to existence.

I prefer to keep Rothilde de Haudre completely separated from Ruodhaid Carolingian, Rotrude de Hesbaye, and Rothilde Carolingian in my genealogy records, so that these four different women don't accidentally get merged together into ONE.

<https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/154774979/person/192089358878/facts>

Rothilde de Haudre WAS NOT Ruodhaid Carolingian, so they shouldn't be merged together into one. READ THE LIFE SKETCHES and figure out what's really going on before merging things.

Sanne keeps erroneously merging Rotrude or Rothilde de Haudre WITH Ruodhaid Carolingian. This is FALSE! It's physically impossible for the daughter of Duke Haudre to be simultaneously the daughter of Charlemagne. She's either one or the other, and not both simultaneously. For some unknown reason, Sanne is treating them both unitedly as the Abbess of Faremoutiers, which is physically impossible.

Sanne has chosen to call this fictional merger of Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid Carolingian by the name Rotrude de Hesbaye, and we see the erroneous results at this link.

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

IT'S SLOPPY, and I don't like it. But, there is nothing I can do about it except to explain why it is false.

--

When it comes to the proposed Rotrude de Hesbaye, the mother of Ermengarde and wife of Ingelram de Hesbaye, her parentage is unknown. Rotrude de Hesbaye is therefore her married name, and NOT her ancestral name!

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9XZ-JVB>

It has been speculated that Rotrude de Hesbaye may in fact have been Rothilde de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne. I can't find any evidence to support it, but the dates work.

--

Ingerman, Count of Hesbaye

Ingerman (Ingram, Enguerrand) (c. 750-818), was a Frankish noble and Count of Hesbaye, son of Sigam of Hesbaye.

Ingerman married Rotrude of unknown parentage (possibly Rotrude de Haudre). Ingerman and Rotrude had one daughter:

Ermengarde. She married into the Frankish royal family, the Carolingians and was the first wife of King Louis the Pious, Son of Charlemagne.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ingerman,_Count_of_Hesbaye

I like this idea because it is my idea; but, it's probably not true. The dates work, though – to have the daughter of Duke Haudre function as the missing mother of Ermengarde de Hesbaye.

<https://markme.us/Rotrude-de-Haudre-DAUGHTER-of-Duke-Haudre/>

I was surprised how quick some people were to latch onto this idea and start using it.

The problem is that it's being used erroneously!

A person online proceeded to merge or conflate Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid de Charlemagne, thereby producing a Fictional Hybrid that can't possibly be true. He's trying to merge seven different women into ONE, and I'm trying to separate them out into individuals and trying to treat them as individuals.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, All Seven Women Merged into ONE

Some of the Falsehoods Regarding Rotrude de Hesbaye

Rotrude de Hesbaye was meant to be the missing wife for Ingerman de Hesbaye; and, for a while there, I truly believed that she was in fact Rothilde de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre. The dates work, and it's truly possible that it could be real.

HOWEVER, there's tons of online documentation stating that Rothilde de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne was in fact married to Mainier de Sens, and is in fact the mother of Gainfroi de Sens. Therefore, it makes it unlikely, though not impossible, that Rothilde de Haudre produced Gainfroi de Sens in 770 with Mainier de Sens, and then went forward and produced Ermengarde de Hesbaye in 778 with Ingerman de Hesbaye.

This bizarre turn of events is presented here at this particular link:

Rotrude de Haudre, MERGED INTO ONE HUGE MESS

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

It's fine, and it works, as long as the nutters at Family Search don't start merging Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid Carolingian resulting in some kind of Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye that we see here at this link:

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye All Seven Women Merged into ONE

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

I personally don't like seeing seven different women being merged into one on Family Search or anywhere else for that matter.

--

WARNING:

There is a real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye who is also getting merged into this mess or confused with this mess. The problem is that the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye is in fact part of Charlemagne's ancestry and therefore has NOTHING to do with Duke Haudre de Yonne. By merging all seven women into ONE, the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye could get overlooked in the process. This person on Family Search, who wants to merge all of these women into ONE, doesn't look at the dates nor their ancestry when making his mergers and deletions. This person doesn't read the Life Sketches either. This person simply merges all seven of these women together into one.

Consequently, I've had to set all of this up on Ancestry.com, where I can easily restore the women that Sanne deletes and merges out of existence.

The most interesting and creative idea I have seen so far is where they take the daughter of Duke Haudre, marry her to Charlemagne, to produce Gainfroi Sens.

Rothilde (Rohaut, Rothildis) d'Haudre WIFE of Charlemagne

0750 – 28 July 0834

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9XW-6CK>
<https://evolution-is-entropy.com/Rothilde-the-DAUGHTER-of-Duke-Haudre/>

Even though I haven't found any evidence supporting this idea, the dates work thereby making it a realistic possibility. This interesting possibility shouldn't be conflated and dismissed simply by merging her out of existence.

As is typical of Family Search, I have found myself at war with an individual on Family Search who seems determined to delete these people from existence by merging them together into one person thereby deleting five or six of them from existence because he wants all seven of them to be the Abbess of Faremoutiers simultaneously, which is physically impossible.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

For example, at the above link and on Family Search, Sanne is erroneously trying to merge Rothilde de Haudre with Ruodhaid Carolingian into ONE PERSON, so that they both can be the Abbess of Faremoutiers and the mother of Gainfroi.

The obvious problem with this idea is that the daughter of Duke Haudre can't also at the same time be the daughter of Charlemagne.

Furthermore, the wife of Charlemagne – Rothilde (Rohaut, Rothildis) d'Haudre WIFE of Charlemagne – can't possibly be the mother of Ruodhaid Charlemagne or Rothilde de Haudre, when Sanne has all three different women merged into ONE. It's impossible for Rothilde (Rohaut, Rothildis) d'Haudre WIFE of Charlemagne to be her own mother.

The result of this error or falsehood is as follows on Family Search:

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, All Seven Women Merged into ONE

0758 – 28 July 0834

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

Rotrude de Haudre, MERGED INTO ONE HUGE MESS

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

--

The dates actually work for Rothilde de Haudre to be the wife of Charlemagne, and for them to produce Gainfroi de Sens. It's definitely unconventional, but possible.

--

Once again, Sanne erroneously and deliberately merged Rothilde de Haudre the WIFE of Charlemagne with Rotrude de Hesbaye the Wife of Ingerman de Hesbaye. This is an ERROR that he deliberately keeps making on Family Search and Geneanet for some unknown reason. They are NOT the same individual, and therefore shouldn't be merged into one.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

I thought that Sanne would correct his errors once they were revealed to him; but, he deliberately restores them whenever they are corrected. There's no hope that he will ever correct his errors, because they are purposeful and deliberate. Therefore, the best we can do is to explain why they are wrong.

Sanne wants Rothilde de Haudre daughter of Duke Haudre, Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madelgarde, Rothilde Carolingian by Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye of Unknown Parentage and WIFE of Ingerman de Hesbaye, the Fictional Rothilde the WIFE of Charlemagne, the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye, and the real historical Rothilde Carolingian ALL MERGED INTO ONE and functioning as the Abbess of Faremoutiers. I don't buy it. IT'S SLOPPY AND IT'S FALSE.

The daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne should NEVER be merged together into one because it's physically impossible for them to be the same person!!! Yet, that's precisely what Sanne is doing at most of his links including these.

Furthermore, Rothilde de Haudre the WIFE of Charlemagne might not exist at all. She seems to be a fictional creation. It's also possible that Rotrude de Hesbaye the WIFE of Ingelram de Hesbaye does not exist also. She also might be a fictional creation. When Sanne merges all seven women together, the result ends up being what I'm calling The Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, Who Is ALL Seven Women Merged into ONE.

<https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/154774979/person/192091085571/facts>
<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

IT'S A MESS, AND MOST OF IT IS FALSE AND IMPOSSIBLE.

If Rothilde de Haudre is the WIFE of Charlemagne and the mother of Gainfroi de Sens, then she is NOT going to be the wife of Mainier de Sens and the mother of Gainfroi de Sens at the same time. It gets very confusing and totally senseless when Sanne starts merging Rothilde de Haudre the daughter of Duke Haudre with Ruodhaid de Charlemagne the daughter of Madelgarde. That doesn't make any sense at all.

Sanne wants Rothilde de Haudre daughter of Duke Haudre, Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madlegarde, Rothilde Carolingian by Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye of Unknown Parentage and WIFE of Ingerman de Hesbaye, the Fictional Rothilde the WIFE of Charlemagne, the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye, and the real historical Rothilde Carolingian ALL MERGED INTO ONE and functioning as the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

All these seven different women can't possibly be the same person, yet Sanne is treating them as if they are so that they call can be the Abbess of Faremoutiers. Sanne doesn't read any of the sources or these life sketches -
- he just simply merges all these women together into one.

Sanne deliberately takes what is TRUE and merges it into the stuff that he has created which is FALSE; and, the TRUTH gets deleted in the process. Of course, nobody at Family Search has been willing to help me, so I have to try to find ways to solve the problem on my own, which isn't working.

I'm severely disappointed with the admins at Family Search and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. They too deliberately facilitate the perpetuation of these errors and falsehoods by providing us with NO way to protect our information and research. They just assume that people like Sanne will automatically correct their errors and falsehoods, and people like him simply don't. We complain, and it doesn't do any good.

Oh well.

I'm getting better and faster at repairing and restoring what he destroys and deletes because I have it all on Ancestry.com where I can quickly restore what he destroys.

The truth will prevail, just not on Family Search, where anyone can delete and destroy anything they want any time they choose to do so.

You can actually see where Sanne tried to merge Rotrude by Hildegarde, Abbess of Faremoutiers, with Rothilde de Haudre at this link:

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/LDS9-1MS>

It would be unbelievable except for the fact that it really happened.

DEFINITELY FALSE!!! Rothilde de Haudre, the daughter of Duke Haudre, definitely was not the daughter of Charlemagne nor the Abbess of Faremoutiers!!!

<https://www.ancestry.com/family-tree/person/tree/154774979/person/192091899978/facts>

So, how did Rotrude by Hildegarde, the daughter of Charlemagne and Abbess of Faremoutiers, end up on the list of seven women that Sanne keeps merging together into one in order to produce the Abbess of Faremoutiers, the wife of Mainier Sens, and the mother of Gainfroi de Sens?

It's because Sanne keeps erroneously trying to merge every Abbess of Faremoutiers that he encounters with Rothilde de Haudre the daughter of Duke Haudre in some misguided attempt to force Rothilde de Haudre to be the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

And, I fed his obsession by suggesting that Rothilde de Haudre, daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne, may have been Rotrude de Hesbaye the wife of Ingerman de Hesbaye. Then he jumped to the conclusion, once again erroneously, and decided that Rotrude de Hesbaye is the same person as Rotrude Carolingian, the Abbess of Faremoutiers. Once again, another individual gets merged together with Rothilde de Haudre in order to produce a SINGLE Abbess of Faremoutiers by a dozen different names.

Sanne keeps merging seven different women together into one on Family Search and Geneanet, and all the subtle differences get lost when he does. The two of the seven residing in completely separate generations with the same names seem to be preserved; but, the other five or six who lived at the same time in the same area get destroyed whenever Sanne merges them together into ONE. My intention is to document why they should be separate individuals on Family Search and Geneanet rather than being merged into ONE as if they were the same person, when they clearly are not.

Anyone else would correct their errors once they are exposed, but not Sanne. Instead, he continues to promote them, and he therefore continues to delete these people from existence on Family Search by merging them together into ONE.

Ruodhaid by Madelgarde Abbess of Faremoutiers

BACKPEDALING AND EATING CROW!!

I convinced myself and others that Rothilde de Haudre was the missing wife of Ingelman de Hesbaye, which meant that Ruodhaid de Charlemagne by Madelgarde had to be the wife of Mainier de Sens.

I thought I had found the keys to the kingdom, until I started studying the dates. Then everything collapsed, and I proved my theories wrong.

Unfortunately, Sanne has taken my erroneous ideas and run with them, using them to convince himself even further that Rothilde de Haudre and Ruodhaid de Charlemagne are the very same person -- the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

We are demonstrably wrong.

Now it has become obvious to me that although Ruodhaid Carolingian was indeed the Abbess of Faremoutiers, she was NOT the wife of Mainier de Sens, and NOT the mother of Gainfroi de Sens. Someone else completely different was.

The REAL mother of Gainfroi de Sens was Rothilde de Haudre, daughter of Duke Haudre, after all; AND NOT one of the daughters of Charlemagne as Sanne claims.

To get the full exposé, you will have to study the following links or memories because Sanne is determined to delete the associated Life Sketches because they falsify his beliefs.

Ruodhaid de Charlemagne by Madelgarde

Ruodhaid, the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/2N9S-VXW>

Ruodhaid by Madelgarde MAY NOT HAVE BEEN the Abbess of Faremoutiers

<https://myspyche.us/Rotrude-by-Hildegard-Abbess-of-Faremoutiers/>

It's also possible that Ruodhaid by Madelgarde had NO spouse and NO children. Somehow, we need to make note of these possibilities on Family Search and Geneanet.

Ruodhaid Was Probably Single and Celibate

Ruodhaid de Charlemagne may have been unmarried and without children.

I spent a day studying the birth date of Ruodhaid daughter of Madelgarde, and I observed that she was born 775 AD at the earliest, and most likely much later.

The following family group sheet has a birthdate of 790 AD.

<https://www.geni.com/people/Ruodhaid-Abbess-of-Faremoutiers/6000000012877633651>

The significance of this isn't readily apparent, unless one has been doing a little studying. You see, I and many others used to believe that Ruodhaid Carolingian was in fact the mother of Gainfroi de Sens and the wife of Mainier de Sens.

HOWEVER, this is physically impossible, if Gainfroi's birthday is true. According to both Geneanet and MyHeritage, Gainfroi was born 770 AD.

<https://www.familysearch.org/photos/artifacts/79241076?p=20538542>

Do you see it now?

Ruodhaid Carolingian was born five to twenty years AFTER her son was born.

If the dates are right, then Ruodhaid Carolingian was single and celibate and without children. She was probably a nun instead.

One of the most interesting things about Ruodhaid by Madelgarde, the "Abbess of Faremoutiers", is the fact that she MAY NOT HAVE BEEN the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

It's possible that Rotrude, the DAUGHTER of Charlemagne and Hildegard of Vinzgouw, may in fact have been the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

Rotrude by Hildegard Abbess of Faremoutiers
775 to 06 June 0810

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9X8-G3P>

Mother: <https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/L4BH-JYR>

<https://bio-psycho-social.com/Rotrude-DAUGHTER-of-Charlemagne-and-Hildegard/>

<http://ultimate-law-of-thermodynamics.com/Roricon-I-comte-du-Maine/>

So, what's the problem?

There are in fact TWO different daughters of Charlemagne who have been given the title, "Abbess of Faremoutiers"!

Two of them!

You see, they can't determine whether the Abbess of Faremoutiers was in fact Rotrude the DAUGHTER of Hildegard of Vinzgouw, or Ruodhaid the DAUGHTER of Madelgarde de Lommois.

The only thing we know for sure is that the Abbess of Faremoutiers was NOT Rothilde de Haudre the DAUGHTER of Duke Haudre de Yonne, as some people insist. It's physically impossible for the DAUGHTER of Duke Haudre to also be the DAUGHTER of Charlemagne.

The information at this link is demonstrably false:

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

At the above link, we observe Sanne erroneously merging Rothilde de Haudre with the Abbess of Faremoutiers to produce a Fictional Hybrid that he's calling Rothilde the Abbess of Faremoutiers or Rotrude the Abbess of Faremoutiers. Then this Fictional Hybrid ends up on Family Search in at least these two spots:

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Charlemagne, All Seven Women Merged into ONE

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

Rotrude de Haudre, MERGED INTO ONE HUGE MESS

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

It's obvious to everyone but Sanne that Rotrude the daughter of Charlemagne cannot be the daughter of Duke Haudre; and therefore, they shouldn't be merged into one as if they were. It's bad enough that historians can't figure out whether the Abbess of Faremoutiers was in fact Rotrude by Hildegard or Ruodhaid by Madelgarde. Now we have Sanne merging them with Rothilde de Haudre.

--

They don't know which daughter of Charlemagne was the Abbess of Faremoutiers – Rotrude by Hildegard or Ruodhaid by Madelgarde. Some people have been erroneously merging them into one and treating them as the same person.

You can actually see where Sanne tried to merge Rotrude by Hildegard, Abbess of Faremoutiers, with Rothilde de Haudre at these links:

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/LDS9-1MS>
<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

It would be unbelievable except for the fact that it really happened.

One falsehood or error always leads to another and needs correcting if we truly want to get things right. Sanne has tried to merge Rothilde de Haudre with every Abbess of Faremoutiers that he can find, including Rotrude by Hildegard and Ruodhaid by Madelgarde. He doesn't seem to look at parentage, life sketches, or dates. He just merges them all together into one.

For some unexplained reason, Sanne keeps merging Rothilde de Haudre with the Abbess of Faremoutiers. The Abbess of Faremoutiers was clearly the daughter of Charlemagne, NOT the daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne. Most people correct their errors once they are exposed; but, not Sanne. He simply keeps merging every Abbess of Faremoutiers that comes his way with Rothilde de Haudre treating them all as if they were the very same person.

I don't get it, and I never will. But, there's nothing I can do about it besides expose his errors so that others can see them. He just keeps merging seven different women into one and calling them all the Abbess of Faremoutiers completely oblivious to the fact that there was more than one Abbess of Faremoutiers. It's sloppy and wrong, but there's nothing I can do about it.

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

And there are more!

A convincing case can be made that Rotrude, the DAUGHTER of Charlemagne and Hildegard of Vinzgouw, was NOT the Abbess of Faremoutiers because the Abbess died on 24 March 0852.

Furthermore, a SOLID case can be made that Rotrude, the DAUGHTER of Charlemagne and Hildegard of Vinzgouw, was NOT the wife of Mainier de Sens and the mother of Gainfroi de Sens, because she was in fact the Partner of Roricon I comte du Maine and the mother of Louis abbot of Saint-Denis.

<https://www.geni.com/people/Louis-abbot-of-Saint-Denis/6000000004036307381>

So, that reality greatly increases the possibility that Ruodhaid by Madelgarde was in fact the Abbess of Faremoutiers; BUT, she definitely wasn't the wife of Mainier de Sens NOR the mother of Gainfroi de Sens if any of these birth dates are correct.

Ruodhaid Carolingian

Ruodhaid de Charlemagne WIFE of Mainier de Sens

The second-most common mother assigned to Gainfroi de Sens IS Ruodhaid, Abbess of Faremoutiers, the DAUGHTER of Charlemagne and Madelgarde.

THIS IS PHYSICALLY IMPOSSIBLE, if any of the dates are correct. Ruodhaid, the daughter of Madelgarde and Charlemagne was born 775 AD at the earliest and possibly as late as 790 AD. Therefore, it's physically impossible for her to be the mother of Gainfroi de Sens who was born in 770 AD. It's physically impossible for a mother to be born after her son.

Carolingian Counts

Maynard or Méginard († 817, 828 or 831), 1st Earl of Sens in 814 as a profit invested by the Emperor Charlemagne. Married to Rohaut (perhaps Charlemagne's natural daughter) or Rothilde.

According to these sources, Ruodhaid Carolingian was possibly married to Mainer de Sens.

WHEN IT COMES TO GAINFROI DE SENS ONLINE, HIS MOTHER'S IDENTITY, ROHAUT OR ROTHILDE, IS ALSO IN DISPUTE. She may have been Ruodhaid Carolingian, the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde; but, this is highly unlikely once all the birthdates are taken into consideration.

Ruodhaid, Abbess of Faremoutiers, was born 775 AD at the earliest; and, Gainfroi de Sens was clearly born 770 AD according to everything on the internet. IT'S PHYSICALLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR A MOTHER TO BE BORN AFTER HER SON IS BORN.

The more I study Ruodhaid Carolingian, the daughter of Charlemagne and Madelgarde, the more obvious it becomes that she NEVER married and that she had NO children of her own. When the birthdates are taken into consideration, it is obvious that Ruodhaid Carolingian cannot be the mother of Gainfroi de Sens NOR the mother of Ermengarde de Hesbaye as some people are claiming.

Erroneously Merging Seven Different Women into ONE

One person on Family Search is erroneously equating or conflating or merging Ruodhaid Carolingian with Rothilde de Haudre to produce a fictional hybrid that he calls Rotrude de Hesbaye, and thereby falsely making this merged fictional hybrid BOTH the mother of Gainfroi de Sens and the mother of Ermengarde de Hesbaye.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, aka Rotrude Carolingian erroneously merged into one with Rothilde de Haudre, IS not only fictional and false but also physically impossible. It's physically impossible for one person to be both the daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne at the same time; but, that's what this person is trying to accomplish by merging them together into one so that both Rothilde de Haudre and Ruodhaid Carolingian can be the Abbess of Faremoutiers at the same time.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, All Seven Women Merged into ONE
<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>
DEFINITELY FALSE!!

IT'S PHYSICALLY IMPOSSIBLE for Rotrude Carolingian born 775 or later to be the mother of Ermengarde born in 778, or the mother of Gainfroi who was born in 770.

The name Rotrude de Hesbaye is also unfortunately confusing because there are a couple of actual Rotrude de Hesbayes that this fictional hybrid is being confused with and implicitly merged with.

The frustrating aspect to all of this is that Sanne wants Rothilde de Haudre daughter of Duke Haudre, Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madlegarde, Rothilde Carolingian by Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye of Unknown Parentage and WIFE of Ingerman de Hesbaye, the Fictional Rothilde the WIFE of Charlemagne, the real historical Rotrude de Hesbaye, and the real historical Rothilde Carolingian ALL MERGED INTO ONE and functioning as the Abbess of Faremoutiers. I don't buy it. IT'S SLOPPY AND IT'S FALSE.

The daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne should NEVER be merged together into one because it's physically impossible for them to be the same person!!! Yet, that's precisely what Sanne is doing at most of his links including these; and, he's determined to destroy my corrections.

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>
<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

Of course, there is nothing I can do about it except to explain why it is false with lots of documentation. I also have all of this set up on Ancestry.com where I can quickly restore the ones that get deleted. I'm getting better and faster at repairing what he destroys.

Rotrude de Hesbaye and Trèves

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/LDZ2-VNG>

<https://www.familysearch.org/photos/artifacts/80611790?p=22830439>

My interest in Rotrude de Hesbaye started when I first noticed that Sanne was erroneously merging Ruodhaid the daughter of Charlemagne with Rothilde the daughter of Duke Haudre. I corrected the obvious error and moved on, only to come back later and discover that Sanne had deliberately restored the ERRORS and FALSEHOODS.

I thought he was confused, so I proceeded to correct the errors again, only to have my corrections and documentation deleted out of existence the next day or so. So then, I started trying to figure out what's going on. He forced me to dig in and do some research to see if there was something important that I was overlooking because Sanne NEVER documents his work on Family Search, so it's impossible to know what he is really thinking.

The battleground:

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

It is obvious from these links that Sanne has convinced himself that Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madelgarde, Rotrude Carolingian by Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye wife of Ingelman de Hesbaye, and Rothilde de Haudre wife of Mainier de Sens are all the SAME PERSON, and the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

I'm equally convinced that he is wrong and that they are in fact four different women. We have irreconcilable differences on this one. One of us is right, and one of us is wrong; or, we are both wrong.

My frustration in all of this came when Sanne started actively deleting the documentation and the evidence that demonstrates that he is wrong and why he is wrong.

He forced me to dig in, learn how to use Ancestry.com and learn how to backup my research on Ancestry.com because he was actively deleting and destroying my research and some of these people on Family Search. At first it was a big pain to have these different women deleted from existence by being merged into one; but now, I have it all on Ancestry.com as well as the documentary proof, so it's getting easier to replace and restore these people every day and every hour that he deletes them.

When I used Family Search, Geneanet, and MyHeritage to look for Rotrude de Hesbaye, she DID NOT show up as the wife of Ingelman de Hesbaye but as the wife of Charles Martel instead. It was then that I discovered how the Real Rotrude de Hesbaye's influence has been bleeding into the marriage and family of Ingelman de Hesbaye on Family Search, and soon realized that Rotrude de Hesbaye the wife of Charles Martel is in fact one of the women that Sanne is merging with Rothilde de Haudre in order to produce his fictional chimeric hybrid that he is now calling Rotrude de Hesbaye. His errors and falsehoods are deliberate, because he has really convinced himself that at least seven different women are Rothilde de Haudre, the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

There is nothing we can do about it. No amount of evidence will convince him that he is wrong. The only thing we can do is to try to protect our work from his determination to delete it.

Sanne is actively merging the two daughters of Charlemagne (Ruodhaid by Madelgarde and Rotrude by Hildegard) with Rothilde de Haudre the daughter of Duke Haudre, and then calling this fictional chimeric hybrid "Rotrude de Hesbaye", the wife of Ingelram de Hesbaye.

IT'S A HUGE INSANE MESS that only got more confusing when I encountered the REAL Rotrude de Hesbaye, the wife of Charles Martel.

Rotrude de Hesbaye

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/LDZ2-VNG>

It's only a matter of time until some idiot like me starts to accidentally merge Sanne's fictional Rotrude de Hesbaye with the REAL Rotrude de Hesbaye.

Why?

It's because people have already started assigning a couple of the different daughters of Charles Martel as the wife of Ingerman de Hesbaye, as well as assigning the wife of Charles Martel as the wife of Ingerman de Hesbaye – in name, if not in actuality.

Chiltrude (Rotrude) is one such daughter, and so is Landree or Landrada.

Ingelram de Hesbaye

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/KJZ6-1BZ>

IT'S A HUGE MESS.

This is what happens when Sanne and others try to merge all of the Rotrudes, Rothildes, and Ruodhuids that they can find with Rothilde de Haudre the daughter of Duke Haudre in order to produce a fictional hybrid or chimera that gets called Rotrude de Hesbaye, the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

I've tried to correct this problem by separating these women on Family Search and Ancestry.com; but, Sanne just keeps merging them all together into ONE anyway. At least now I'm getting faster at separating them out and restoring them on Family Search because I have them all backed up on Ancestry.com where Sanne can't get at them to destroy them.

I'm also documenting what I'm doing so that others can more easily figure out what's really going on, because Sanne continues to destroy my work on a daily basis.

My interest in Rothilde Carolingian started when I first noticed that Sanne was erroneously merging Ruodhaid the daughter of Charlemagne with Rothilde the daughter of Duke Haudre in order to produce an individual that he would sometimes call "Rothilde Carolingian", the Abbess of Faremoutiers. I corrected the obvious error and moved on, only to come back later and discover that Sanne had deliberately restored the ERRORS and FALSEHOODS.

I thought he was confused, so I proceeded to correct the errors again, only to have my corrections and documentation deleted out of existence the next day or so. So then, I started trying to figure out what's really going on. He forced me to dig in and do some research to see if there was something important that I was overlooking because Sanne NEVER documents his work on Family Search, so it's impossible to know what he is really thinking.

The battleground:

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/GMQM-NMS>

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

It is obvious from these links that Sanne has convinced himself that Ruodhaid Carolingian by Madelgarde, Rotrude Carolingian by Hildegard, Rothilde Carolingian, Rotrude de Hesbaye wife of Ingelman de Hesbaye, and Rothilde de Haudre wife of Mainier de Sens are all the SAME PERSON, and the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

I'm equally convinced that he is wrong and that they are in fact five different women. We have irreconcilable differences on this one. One of us is right, and one of us is wrong; or, we are both wrong.

My frustration in all of this came when Sanne started actively deleting the documentation and the evidence that demonstrates that he is wrong and why he is wrong.

He forced me to dig in, learn how to use Ancestry.com, and learn how to backup my research on Ancestry.com because he was actively deleting and destroying my research and some of these people on Family Search. At first it was a big pain to have these different women deleted from existence by being merged into one; but now, I have it all on Ancestry.com as well as the documentary proof, so it's getting easier to replace and restore these people every day and every hour that he deletes them.

When I used Family Search, Geneanet, and MyHeritage to look for Rothilde Carolingian, she DID NOT show up as Rothilde de Haudre the wife of Mainier de Sens but as the wife of Hugh, Count of DeBourges, instead. It was then that I soon realized that Rothilde Carolingian the wife of Hugh DeBourges is in fact one of the women that Sanne is mentally merging with Rothilde de Haudre in order to produce his fictional chimeric hybrid that he is now calling Rothilde Carolingian. His errors and falsehoods are deliberate, because he has really convinced himself that at least seven different women are Rothilde de Haudre, the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

There is nothing we can do about it. No amount of evidence will convince him that he is wrong. The only thing we can do is to try to protect our work from his determination to delete it; and, his ongoing deletion of my research, documentation, and notes is what really got my attention.

Every time that Sanne merges Rothilde de Haudre with Rothilde Carolingian, lots of different Carolingians and Lotharingians get deleted from view, from existence, and from consideration on Family Search.

The problem with merging these seven women into ONE is that the other six women are overlooked or even deleted on Family Search; and, that is wrong! It might not seem like a big deal to Sanne and others, but for the individuals who get deleted or overlooked, it's huge!

https://en.geneanet.org/fonds/individus/?go=1&nom=De+France&nom_conjoint=Hugh&prenom=Rothaut&prenom_conjoint=&prenom_conjoint_opérateur=or&prenom_opérateur=or&utm_campaign=search&utm_medium=partner&utm_source=partner_familysearch

Of course, for the person whose work, research, sources, and notes are getting deleted, it's a big deal as well.

The daughters of Charlemagne, Ruodhaid and Rotrude, were both born after 775 AD, while Gainfroi de Sens was born by 770 AD. It's physically impossible for the daughters of Charlemagne to be the mother of Gainfroi de Sens because they weren't born yet when he was born!

I don't buy it. IT'S SLOPPY AND IT'S FALSE.

UTTER NONSENSE!

While merging half a dozen different Rotrudes, Rothildes, and Ruodhuids together into one, Sanne now has the daughter of Charlemagne married to Charlemagne and giving birth to Gainfroi de Sens.

This is what happens when people don't pay attention to the dates and the relationships while merging people together.

THIS IS UTTER NONSENSE AND CHAOS!

There's no way possible that Charlemagne could have or would have married his daughter to produce Gainfroi de Sens.

Erroneously Merging Seven Different Women into ONE

One person on Family Search is erroneously equating or conflating or merging Ruodhaid Carolingian with Rothilde de Haudre to produce a fictional hybrid that he calls Rotrude de Hesbaye, and thereby falsely making this merged fictional hybrid BOTH the mother of Gainfroi de Sens and the mother of Ermengarde de Hesbaye.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, aka Rotrude Carolingian erroneously merged into one with Rothilde de Haudre, IS not only fictional and false but also physically impossible. It's physically impossible for one person to be both the daughter of Duke Haudre and the daughter of Charlemagne at the same time; but, that's what this person is trying to accomplish by merging them together into one so that both Rothilde de Haudre and Ruodhaid Carolingian can be the Abbess of Faremoutiers at the same time.

Fictional Hybrid Rotrude de Hesbaye, Who Is ALL Seven Women Merged into ONE

The falsehoods and conflations are being promoted and enforced using the information at this link by Sanne van den Eijnde:

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

This person's ultimate goal seems to be to merge these seven different women into one person, and to remove Duke Haudre de Yonne from the picture altogether. Obviously, I don't buy it. The goal of Family Search is to do the temple work for everyone, not to delete them from existence. By merging these seven women into one person, six of them literally get deleted from Family Search; and, that violates the spirit and the intention of Family Search and genealogy in general. I've fought hard to keep these seven women separated, not to merge them together into one.

THE FALSEHOODS ABOUND

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9DF-W2N>

<https://gw.geneanet.org/sanne5?n=de+haudre&oc=&p=rothilde>

According to the preceding link on Geneanet, Sanne van den Eijnde wants to force the Abbess of Faremoutiers, both Ruodhaid de Madelgarde and Rotrude de Hildegard, to function as the wife of Ingeram de Hesbaye and as the mother of Ermengarde de Hesbaye. Sanne also wants this very same Rotrude de Hesbaye to also magically be the mother of Gainfroi de Sens and the wife of Mainier de Sens.

THIS IS PHYSICALLY IMPOSSIBLE!

IT'S PHYSICALLY IMPOSSIBLE for Rotrude Carolingian born 775 or later to be the mother of Ermengarde born in 778, or the mother of Gainfroi who was born in 770.

There are also two different Rotrude Carolingians, born at the same time, who could possibly be the Abbess of Faremoutiers. Sanne is also trying to merge them into one without even knowing it!

The Solution

The resolution of all these conflicts and falsehoods requires separating these seven different women into individuals on Family Search and requires checking the birthdates for each one of them to determine what is physically possible and what is impossible.

Rotrude de Charlemagne Abbess of Faremoutiers

0775 – 6 June 0810

Rotrude de Hildegard was born in 775.

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/G9X8-G3P>

Ruodhaid of Faremoutiers Abbess of Faremoutiers

0775 – 24 March 0852

Ruodhaid de Madelgarde was born around 784, or 775 at the earliest.

<https://www.familysearch.org/tree/person/details/2N9S-VXW>

--

The grand-daughters of Charlemagne (Rotrude and Ruodhaid) cannot be the mother of Ermengard de Hesbaye because they were born the same time as Ermengard de Hesbaye or AFTER Ermengard de Hesbaye.

Ermengarde de Hesbaye

28 April 0778 – 3 October 0818

Ermengarde of Hesbaye Empress of the Holy Roman Empire

I don't get this person's compulsive obsession with making all seven different women the same person on Family Search and thereby making all seven women serve as the Abbess of Faremoutiers.

IT'S WRONG, AND IT'S DEMONSTRABLY FALSE!

Rothildes, Rotrudes, and Ruodhaid MERGED TOGETHER INTO ONE HUGE MESS

IT'S FALSE!!!

So, why is it false?

It's because he is deliberately MERGING Ruodhaid Carolingian (daughter of Madelgarde), Rotrude Carolingian (daughter of Hildegard, Rotrude de Hesbaye (of Unknown Parentage), WITH Rothilde de Haudre (daughter of Duke Haudre de Yonne) and treating them as if they were ONE -- the Abbess of Faremoutiers. It BREAKS ancestry.com when he finally gets the daughter of Charlemagne married to Charlemagne giving birth to Gainfroi de Sens and Ermengarde de Hesbaye.

IT'S DEMONSTRABLY FALSE. He never corrects his errors, and he doesn't read these life sketches, so there's nothing we can do about it except to tell you why it is false.

Contrary to what one person wants to force upon us, Rothilde de Haudre was NOT Ruodhaid de Charlemagne, the Abbess of Faremoutiers. There's no logical reason to conflate or merge the two, but what can one do when someone else is determined to? Of course, this person doesn't read the research material online.
